

Give that the biconditional means that if  $P$  is the case,  $Q$  is the case and if  $Q$  is the case,  $P$  must be the case, if we have  $P \equiv Q$  and  $P$ , we can derive  $Q$  and vice versa.

Figure 1: biconditional-elim.png